Auto industry slump slows Borg-Warner's plant plans

MEETING THE PRESS—Leo Kowal, second from right, plant manager of Borg-Warner Chemical's Port Bienville Industrial Park facility now under construction, informs news media representatives at a Diamondhead Country Club press conference Thursday morning the company's intent to advance the plant's start up date to late 1981. However, Kowal said the plant's total development will be delayed until mid to late 1983.

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A nationwide slump in automobile sales and a slowed U.S. construction industry have finally registered an impact on Hancock County.

Those economic factors have prompted Borg-Warner Chemicals to delay full development of its new Hancock County plastics plant now under construction at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

In addition, construction of Westinghouse Corp.'s modular furniture plant north of Pass Christian has reportedly been delayed—also due to national economic factors.

Borg-Warner officials originally announced several months ago its Hancock County plant would begin operation in mid-1982, employing some 100 people.

However, local Plant Manager Leo Kowal revealed at a Diamondhead Country Club press conference Friday morning the plant will begin operation in late 1981, but at 60 percent of its total planned production capacity, employing only 27 people.

"We've had problems with the economy. Full completion of the plant will be delayed until mid to late 1983," Kowal stated.

The plant originally was to begin producing 150 pounds of product per year, but the plant manager said the Port Bienville operation initially will produce 80-100 pounds.

"The auto industry has been a primary factor. That industry has picked up a little, but we are not certain this is a long-term trend," Kowal said.

Kowal stated the Hancock County plant is designed to furnish some 30 percent of its output to the national automobile industry.

However, the plant manager revealed sales to car manufacturers have dropped from that 30 percent to below 20 percent.

"The slow down in the housing market has also affected us, but the market for molded items has remained good," Kowal reported.

"We are totally committed to building this plant. We are spending the money for this operation regardless of the economy," Kowal stated.

The plant manager said 21 of the 27 employees will be hired locally and applications for various positions will be distributed at the plant site beginning Jan. 5.

"We will use contract maintenance people, but we will be hiring technicians and various office personnel," he explained.

When asked if the company's decreased initial employment figure would present problems with the industrial park's protective covenants requiring minimum employment based on acreage, Kowal replied, "We have a time span allowed in our contract and our plans are within the time frame."

Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Director W. Wilson Wehre stated, "There are provisions in the park's protective covenants to address economic downturns."

Kowal said structural steel and chemical holding tanks are now being erected at the Port Bienville plant site.

Wehre noted, "As many as 90 people have been employed in the construction of the Borg-Warner plant and the hiring of 160 people is planned at peak construction level."

However, in response to questions about construction companies bringing in out-of-state workers, Kowal replied, "We said we were committed to hiring local people."

"Contractors may have brought in people with specific skills and people expert in a particular type of job," Kowal said.

Wehre explained, "At no time was Borg-Warner compelled to hire local people. It is not reasonable for a contractor to hire local people when you have specialized skills needed for this construction."

"Hancock County has enjoyed a relatively low unemployment rate for a long time and we are still satisfied that we're on time with this project," he added.

In response to questions regarding a recently obtained U.S. Army Corps of Engineers permit to pump effluent from the plant into a Port Bienville canal, Kowal replied, "Our plant will be environmentally clean."

"We have designed the plant to be environmentally safe and we have full confidence it will be safe. It will be one of the cleanest plants you will see," the plant manager stated.

"The plant will not produce a processed waste. This liquid will be blown down from a cooling tower," Kowal explained.

Port body considers land reacquisition

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission agreed Thursday night to allow seven days for response from International Demolition before filing suit against the company.

The suit will involve reacquisition of Lot 47 at Port Bienville Industrial Park. According to Commissioner David McDonald, International Demolition has not met employment density standards nor built any permanent structure on the site, and has committed a number of other violations.

The waiting period will allow International Demolition time to respond to a commission attorney's interrogation concerning a possible question of materials in transit at the site McDonald said.

A report from the commission engineer Dr. Michael Smith determined a cost reduction in funds allotted to painting the water tank at Port Bienville.

Smith said it would not be necessary to sand blast the top of the tank. This reduced the amount of cleaning by 50 percent, Smith said.

Not having to sand blast will reduce the cost of the project by $1750. The project was initially estimated at $25,000.

Painting should be completed by next week Smith said, depending on weather. The Commission moved to withhold payment to Mid-State Coatings until two clear water samples have been drawn from the water tank subject to

Mississippi shrimpers denied disaster status

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County and Mississippi Gulf Coast shrimpers have been denied a White House disaster declaration for the 1980 shrimp season.

The denial dashes hopes of local officials and shrimpers for a positive presidential response to a request urged by several area organizations and governmental bodies.

Hancock's State Representative J.P. Compretta said Saturday he feels the denial may be a result of President Jimmy Carter recently losing his bid for re-election earlier this month.

"It's unfortunate our request had to be made during a presidential election," Compretta stated.

Recently the Gulf Fisherman's Association, Compretta and Fifth Congressional District U.S. Representative Trent Lott's office has been attempting to secure disaster status for the 1980 shrimp season.

A presidential disaster declaration would provide unemployment compensation and grants to shrimpers.

The Small Business Administration recently approved 8.75 percent loans for shrimpers, but due to consistently bad catches most shrimpers have not been able to repay low-interest SBA loans procured two years ago.

Compretta received a letter Saturday from Mississippi Governor William Winter's office in Jackson which says the entire Gulf Coast economy was not impaired enough to warrant such a declaration.

Governor's staff member Sam Begley states in the letter, "While the severity of the damage to the Gulf Coast shrimp industry is clear, communities on the Gulf Coast are basically economically sound and do not meet the conditions specified by federal law for a major disaster declaration to be made."

Compretta said Saturday, "This isn't the end road and I'm not going to roll DISASTER—Page 3A

Catholic schools initiate drug education program

NO FAIRY TALES—Counselor Wynne Wyndham, of Diamondhead, professional alcohol and drug abuse counselor, discusses alcoholism and drug addiction with Bay Catholic Schools kindergarten pupils. Bay Catholic Schools initiated an alcohol and drug abuse awareness program throughout the system, extending from kindergarten through grade twelve to include the faculty as well. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Bay St. Louis Catholic School System has instituted an alcohol and drug abuse awareness program throughout the system.

Counseling is being provided on that very sensitive subject to students in all grades from kindergarten through twelve.

And faculty members as well are being oriented in substance abuse awareness in an effort to enhance their ability to recognize the student under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

"Rumors are going around the community the drug problem at Our Lady's Academy is so bad we need an awareness program and a counselor on the campus at all times," said Principal Michael Ryan of Bay St. Louis.

"Of course, that's not the reason for this program," Ryan emphasizes.

"The alcohol and drug abuse problem in Bay Catholic schools is no greater than it is in schools all over the country these days," Ryan continued.

"So we are trying to do something positive in the face of that threat to protect our students from a potential disaster in their lives," the young school administrator stated.

"We're in the business of education at Bay Catholic Schools," Ryan points out, "and it's probably no area in which the need for education is more pressing for young people now than in this matter of alcohol and drugs."

Wynne Wyndham of Diamondhead, professional alcohol and drug abuse counselor with offices in Gulfport, is heading the school system's awareness program.

"If the problems in your life are such that you feel compelled to escape through drugs and alcohol, you need to talk about those problems and we're here to listen," Wyndham told the girls.

"Once a cucumber becomes a pickle, there's no going back to a cucumber," Wyndham tells her charges in describing the chronic and permanent nature of the disease of alcoholism.

A self-professed recovering alcoholic and drug addict herself, Wyndham explains, "There's no going back over the line once you're chemically dependent, and no one knows for sure where that line is."

"Young people don't get to 'use' these days as long as many adults did—maybe it's because of the poly-use we find today," she warns of the jeopardy of quick addiction with the cross abuse of alcohol and drugs common today.

"This disease of substance abuse kills the whole person—the physical, the mental and the spiritual," the counselor points out in her sessions with the students.

"And we see many people, even though they have long ago stopped drinking, who suffer from what we call a 'wet brain'—they're simply burned out," she stated.

"And it's the spirit which takes the longest to come back once alcoholics and addicts break their addictions," is her ominous warning to youngsters who take lightly the matter of "experimenting" with substance abuse.

Wyndham's appearance on the Bay Catholic campuses has been generally well accepted by the students, even enthusiastically by most of the younger children.

But some of the high school girls at OLA expressed a resentment at having a drug counselor on campus.

"It's like having a police woman walking around in the halls," one OLA junior commented.

"She's giving OLA a bad reputation," another stated.

But Wyndham is not discouraged by such resentments. "I'm confident even they will eventually realize exactly what we're trying to do with this program," she added.

"Byrne, my little brother has been smoking marijuana and I don't know who to talk to about it," said one little girl about 12-years-old who stopped Wyndham in the hallway.

The counselor made an appointment on the spot for a confidential discussion of the problem with the girl before the day was out.

The Associated Press, with a report out of Baton Rouge, La. this month, reinforced Ryan's and Wyndham's contentions drug awareness programs are necessary in the earliest grades.

In its report on a study of teen-age drug use, the wire service said most adolescent drug addicts start with a first drink at age 12, a first cigarette just months later, and continue the pattern with drug use in school.

The study by Louisiana State University involved 250 patients at Baton Rouge General Hospital's Adolescent Chemical Dependency Unit, Vernon Ridgway, the unit's director.

said the study, in its first year, indicates a "a definite pattern of use...a classic addict profile, complete, with a family history of addiction and specific behavioral problems."

The study is to continue for five years, and results from a two-year period were expected to indicate that teen-age drug use is on the rise, "up to 70 percent in our local high schools today," Ridgeway said.

From alcohol and marijuana, the average adolescent addict moved on to inhalants, downers and tranquilizers, speed, PCP, LSD, cocaine, opiates and heroin, the study found.

By age 12, 98 percent of those entering the unit had smoked marijuana and 96 percent had used alcohol. By age 16, the study found 16 percent had used opiates and 13 percent, heroin.

More than 90 percent of the adolescent drug users were classified as "being preoccupied with chemicals" to the extent that their lives revolved around "getting high."

The study also found more than 90 percent of the patients had experienced accidents, hangovers, "burn out," changes in sleep patterns and inability to work because of their addiction.

Family relationships suffered for more than 90 percent of the youngsters because of their drinking or drug use, and more than 60 percent had run away from home.

There were broken homes in about two-thirds of the cases, and 60 percent of the addicts were from families where at least one other member was addicted to drugs or alcohol.

More than 90 percent of the adolescents told researchers they used drugs at school, sometimes skipping classes to get high.

And the study found that more than 80 percent of the teen-agers had thought about suicide, and 40 percent reported that they had tried to take their lives.

Also this month, the November issue of RUSHES, monthly publication of the Mississippi Clearinghouse For Alcohol and Drug Abuse Information, raises the question of just what works in substance abuse prevention.

Quoting from the journal 'Essence of Adolescence,' RUSHES points out at least three recent reviews of the literature regarding drug abuse prevention have concluded there is little substantial evidence that drug abuse education programs have any lasting effect on the drug using behavior of the clients.

"Furthermore, there is no evidence that speaks to the question of what kinds of drug education programs have what kinds of effects on what kinds of people?" the report implies.

The article said models of drug abuse prevention education and research findings based on their implementation have led to the following conclusions:

"Fear-Induction and Legal-Political Models

"Both techniques appear to work in controlling behavior in the short run.

However, people are weighing the probability of arrest and are finding it within an acceptable risk.

"Using the former addict and user as an outside authority to urge people not to use drugs is not an effective approach.

"Friends and other users are most credible; while doctors, scientists, and clergy are far less credible.

"Medical-Physiologic Model

"Effectiveness appears good when the format is self-help groups but poor for one-to-one therapy.

There is evidence to show that drug use is related to psychic distress and life crisis. However, there is no experimental evidence to show cause and effect.

"Information Processing-Rationality Model

"Increased information about drugs does not automatically lead to reduction of drug use. In fact, it may increase experimentation.

"Religious-Spiritual Approach

"For those who accept the rigid devotion to a deity and adherence to a strict code of behavior, this approach is a deterrent to drug abuse. However, it does not appear suitable for any broad scale use.

"Alternatives

"There is an assumed relationship between alternative sources of enjoyment and raising levels of consciousness. This relationship has yet to be proved.

"In Conclusion, it appears that the systematic use of peer influence may be effective in bringing about desired changes in drug-abusing behavior.

However, the manipulation of peer influence is a difficult and touchy endeavor, fraught with the danger of backfire and further alienation from adult influence.

"Drug abuse is somehow related to the experiences of the individual in human interaction.

"Obviously, the interaction of a child with his/her parents is one of the most significant of such interactions."

Bay police enforcing B.B. pellet gun laws

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams said Thursday his department will fine individuals caught firing B.B. or pellet guns in the city limits and confiscate the weapons.

Williams said his department's "crackdown" on the illegal use of these weapons is in response to increasing reports of windows and street lights being "shot out" throughout the city.

"We are experiencing entirely too much vandalism involving B.B. and pellet guns," the police chief stated.

"We are urging parents of any child owning such a weapon to instruct these youngsters to only fire these guns outside the city limits," Williams said.

"Any child or adult caught firing a

B.B. or pellet gun in the city limits will be fined and their weapon will be confiscated," he explained.

"We are now stepping up efforts to find such offenders," the police chief added.

Williams also noted a slug fired from a fully charged pellet gun is as deadly as a round fired from a 22-caliber rifle.

"A pellet gun can kill you. If you pump one of those guns all the way up, you can shoot a round right through a person," Williams stated.

"Our job would be easier if we could just get parents to understand how dangerous these weapons are and that these guns are restricted just as any other rifle or pistol," Williams explained.

Chain saw recovered

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A Homelite XL12 chain saw, reportedly stolen from Hancock District Four maintenance, has been recovered, according to Sheriff Ronald (Ronnie) Peterson.

The chain saw was allegedly taken about two months ago and an investigation was conducted by Peterson and Investigators Alvin Ladner and Delbert Seay.

Peterson said, "We had a search warrant Thursday night for the residence of Raymond Ellis, 42, of Bay St. Louis. The two Hancock investigators and I found the saw in question in a small shed in the back yard."

Ellis has been charged with possession of stolen property and is out after placing a $1,500 bond, according to the sheriff.

A tip led police to the residence where the saw was recovered. Value of the item was estimated at $350.

Peterson reports the possibility of another person being involved, noting the investigation is continuing.

A preliminary hearing for Ellis is scheduled before Justice Court Judge Bruce Necaise on Nov. 19.

In other matters, Peterson reports that road blocks will commence this week for the checking of proper drivers licenses, break tags, out of state tags and expired license tags.

"Several weeks ago I made the announcement to the public that the sheriff's office would be checking for these violations. We will get started this week," Peterson commented.

The checks will be similar to ones made during the spring when hundreds of violations were recorded. The road blocks will be set up throughout the county, including Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The Commission authorized a payment of $4,725 to Mid-Gulf Construction Company for construction of the water mains going into Borg-Warner.

The commission accepted a check of $3000 from Delta Exploration Company. The company completed the drilling of 30 seismic exploration holes at Port Blenville.

The commission moved to sign a lease option contract with the First National Bank of Commerce in New Orleans in connection with a loan by Bergeron Industries Inc. concerning the use of a site in Port Blenville as collateral in lieu of loan repayment.

Wilson Webre, executive director of the commission, was authorized to check the state blue book for rental costs of equipment necessary to eliminate a drainage problem on Bergeron Road. An eight foot ditch there has accumulated approximately 14 inches of silt due to erosion and is slowing drainage. If the problem is not subject to specifications in the book allowing for rental, Webre was authorized to advertise for a back hoe operator at cost per hour.

Webre reported that approximately 25 feet of a bulkhead at Port Blenville had been damaged by the Brown and Root tug boat Elenora Badeaux. The company is in the process of making a full report, Webre said.

Eleven more railroad cars of ballast will be unloaded at the Borg-Warner property Bergeron Industrial site. Cost per car is $122.

"The big problem I see is that people who do not live here on the Coast don't realize shrimpers are farmers of the sea and they should be treated as well as farmers are all over the country," Compretta explained.

"I think the fishermen get pushed back too many times," he added.

"The fishermen provide a commodity just like farmers do in the Delta region of our state," Compretta said.

Bits-N-Pieces

By Ellis Cuevas

There are times when a person is unable to figure out just what makes some people tick.

A community effort is underway to construct a home for an elderly couple on State Street in Bay St. Louis.

Many hours of work, by a wide variety of concerned people have gone into the effort, including collection of funds by young people.

This is a great endeavour by all persons involved, yet there are some idiots out there who are interfering with what all these fine folks have done.

The nitwits we are referring to are the ones who have been breaking out the windows in the home before it is even completed.

It must take a person, whether adult or juvenile, who crawls very low to do something of this nature.

Our hopes are that the person or persons responsible are apprehended by police and made aware of just how low they are.

Tuesday is a very important day for residents of the Hancock County School System.

There is a run-off election for the post of school board member for District One, which will be voted on by all residents of the school district.

We urge all qualified electors of the school district to go out and vote, vote for the candidate of your choice.

It is important for parents to be concerned for the welfare of their children, do this by voting Tuesday.

The very late in the season storm Jeanne had many of us concerned as to when and where and how much it was going to become.

We know our Civil Defense under the direction of Bobby Boudin was in very close contact with weather officials just in case some evacuations had to take place. Also our elected officials and law enforcement people kept a close eye.

We are sure glad the winds have died down and hope the storm continues to downgrade.

CONSUMER REPORT

BILL ALLAIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL

BUYING BULK MEAT SIDES OF BEEF

Rising food prices—particularly rising meat costs—have caused consumers to seek out the least expensive outlets for food.

This quest for savings often leads consumers to bulk meat sellers where by buying meat in large quantities they sometimes can save money.

However, not all bulk meat sellers offer a saving; very often if consumers are not open-eyed they can find themselves victimized by deceptive advertising and fraudulent sales practices.

Here are some of the practices to beware of:

—Don't be caught in "bait and switch"—some bulk meat dealers lure consumers in by advertising meat at what seems to be outrageously low prices.

However, when the consumer asks for the advertised meat, they try to discourage its purchase by refusing to sell it or by pointing out its poor quality.

Sometimes consumers are even shown meat that is molding and offensive smelling. The object is, of course, to switch consumers to more expensive meats.

—Don't be misled by the prices of meat sold by hanging weight—that is, untrimmed and uncut. Find out what the cost-per-pound is for take-home meat.

After the loss caused by trimming and boning, the "low cost-per-pound" could turn out to be "higher" than the ordinary retail price.

Edible meat might in some cases amount to only half the hanging weight, doubling the actual price per pound the consumer pays for what he eats. You will be paying for what is being raked into the garbage bags.

—Watch carefully when meat is trimmed, cut, and packaged to make sure what you bought is what you take home. Some disreputable dealers switch orders on customers.

In addition you should know something about meat labeling before you make a bulk meat purchase.

—Look for the USDA grade stamped on the beef. The top three grades—and those most often sold at retail—are prime, choice, and good. The other five are standard, commercial, utility, cutter, and canner.

The grades are a guide to how tender, juicy, and flavorful the meat will be. The lowest grade sold as fresh beef, USDA commercial, is often used as "bait" beef with which to "switch" consumers to higher priced beef.

—Be wary of meat advertised as "Heavy Western Beef," "U.S. Fancy Beef," "U.S. Grade-A Beef," or similar phrases. These labels are fictitious and have no relationship to quality, flavor or tenderness.

Consumers need to be alert and informed about consumer issues and problems in the marketplace.

BUYING A NEW CAR

With the new 1981 cars on display prospective car owners should make sure they know and like everything about a car before buying it.

To often new car shoppers act on impulse and regret their decision later. A customer should try on a new car just as he would try on a pair of shoes.

HERE ARE SOME TIPS TO CONSIDER BEFORE BUYING A CAR:

—Comparison shop by looking at one or two comparatively equipped models at three or more dealers. Bargain aggressively at each.

—Start shopping before you get to the showroom by reading consumer and auto magazines to compare prices and features.

—You will improve your chances for a good buy by shopping at the end of the month when dealers are trying to make their quota.

—Road test a car you are interested in.

—Don't put a down payment on a car unless you're sure you will buy it, because in some cases the dealer can keep the down payment if you change your mind.

—If you want to trade in your present car, get a price on the new car before discussing the trade-in. Then bargain about the two cars separately.

—If you sign a buyers order make sure that your offer is accepted in writing by a representative of the company.

—Warranties must be available for you to look at before you buy so you can comparison shop for best warranty.

AFTER YOU HAVE BROUGHT THE CAR:

—If problems develop after you have taken the car home, don't wait for them to work themselves out. Take it back to the dealer immediately.

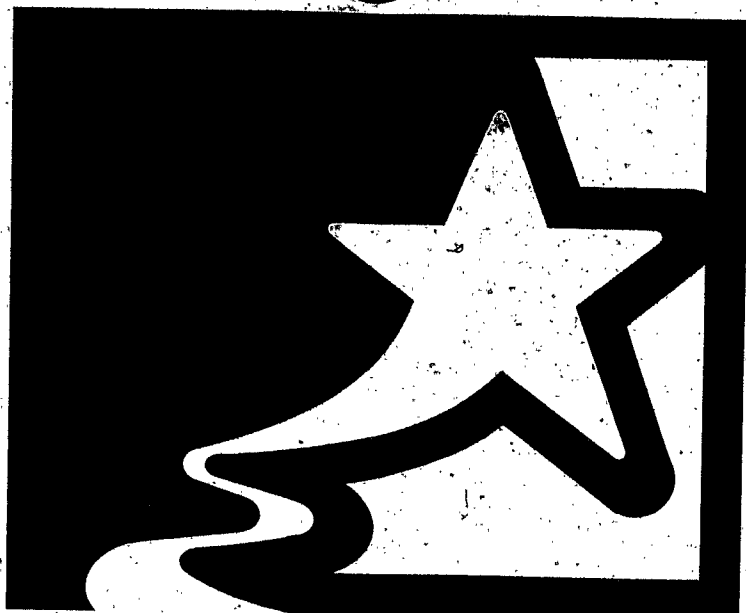

—Insist on itemized statements for all work done on your car, whether it's under warranty or not. Keep the receipts as long as you own the car.

—Finally, be persistent about solving car problems. While your car is still under warranty try to get it in top notch condition. It may take persistence and patience, but a prime objective is to reach the end of the warranty period with a trouble-free car.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

What do you think about my using white type on a black background to make my ads stand out? Also, aren't sexy girls good for interest? Auto Parts Dealer.

Dear APD: The white type on a black background is technically known as a reverse. While frequently used, it is generally regarded as ineffective.

It will make your ad stand out, but it may also be offensive.

Worse, it's often hard to read; sometimes impossible. Many readers have reported that large masses of small type in reverse print can cause them to experience eye pain.

In their national campaign fund "Save The Children" traditionally reversed the type in their ads. As a test one of the same ads was run black on white. Donations were 65 per cent higher.

Some donors said the ads with the reversed type, "looked questionable," but with the change was "more believable."

Reverses are sometimes effective for a very short word or line of large open type. But these are generally more attractive if the background is screened to a medium or light gray or a color. Sometimes a screened background is even more effective if outline type is used.

So one reason for the reverse taboo is it may make the ad look banal, cheap or ordinary.

Secondly, it may be hard to read. There's no easy explanation, but the fact that it's so unfamiliar is a good guess.

Reading is actually seeing reflections.

from a printed surface—ordinarily dark on a light paper. The eye picks up the reflections of the light area, and since the dark area reflects little or no light, it represents something not seen.

Changing the sequence is similar to looking at a black and white photograph negative. You can see it, but you usually can't tell too much about it.

Why is the use of reverse type so widespread? They're easy and inexpensive to do and the startling difference makes them attention getters.

And sometimes they seem to be successful. One thing they do well is provide unity to the elements. But other and safer devices can be used to hold the various parts of the ad together.

The odds against success are so great it seems foolish to try a reverse without extensive testing.

As for sexy girls—they do create a lot of attention, but for me the interest has never extended to automotive supplies.

For perfumes, cosmetics, lingerie or any product for which it would be appropriate, to use anything else would be foolish.

Equally foolish is using sex appeal simply for attention. It calls attention to itself, but the transfer of this interest to the product is where it usually falls short, even to the point of sometimes being distracting.

Third grade classrooms 'closed' during North Bay 'open house'

November 14, 1980
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

I would like to say publicly how much my husband and I enjoyed the "open house" sponsored by the North Bay Elementary PTO and held at the school on Tuesday evening, Nov. 11.

After a brief meeting in the cafeteria, we were invited to visit all of our children's classrooms and meet their teachers.

This also afforded us an opportunity to view the materials our children are using, seeing where they sit in the classroom and how the room is decorated and arranged to motivate young minds to learn.

The teachers were very gracious and we thoroughly enjoyed visiting our children's daily school surroundings for ourselves in a relaxed, more casual manner.

My only regret is the fact that our fellow citizens who are the parents of third graders who have been moved to Bay Senior High were not given the same consideration by the administration.

Their children's classrooms were not open during "open house" for them to visit and enjoy as the rest of us did. The disappointment expressed to me by some of those parents is, I believe, legitimate.

Hopefully, this will not set a precedent as to how these people will be treated for the remainder of the school year.

The excuse given by those in charge was that it was an oversight. An oversight, mind you, of some 82 students and their parents. I believe it can be more accurately termed "out of sight, out of mind."

Sincerely,
Lana Noonan
Bay St. Louis.

Sea Coast Echo coverage of Hancock County Schools termed biased

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

After attending almost every Hancock County School Board Meeting within the last year, I become increasingly more astonished at the manner in which the Sea Coast Echo covers the meeting.

The articles misconstrue what transpires at the meetings.

Sunday, November 10, I was dismayed at the coverage of the Hancock County School Board Meeting.

The article, written by Wayne Ducomb Jr., indicated that basketball was the only item of importance on the agenda.

If this is the case, Hancock North Central has misplaced their priorities—more emphasis is placed on basketball than academics.

In this writer's opinion, the reporter is very biased, and has failed to provide the citizens of Hancock County adequate coverage on the alleged mispending of the emergency repair funds at Gulfview School.

I had to rely on the information from the Clarion Ledger.

I encourage you to present an informative and unbiased account of what is actually transpiring in our county.

Sincerely,
Lennette Necaise

Detached Retina Is Common Eye Ill

Every year, one in 10,000 people suffers a retinal detachment that causes blindness. With early detection and proper treatment, however, this unfortunate result can be prevented.

A detached retina is usually due to a hole or tear in the retina of the eye, says a booklet from the American Medical Association. Heredity, environmental factors and eye changes as a result of aging all contribute.

The most common symptom is the sudden appearance of many floating spots in the eyesight of one eye. Spots are caused by blood cells that enter the jelly-like vitreous humor through a tear, and may last only a few days or many months. Lying down sometimes causes great improvement.

However, the disappearance of the floaters should not be mistaken for cure. Visual impairment will follow. There may be sudden flashes of light, though there actually is no light. Only examination by an ophthalmologist will tell for sure if the retina is detached.

Detached retina is more common among persons who have undergone cataract removal, are nearsighted, or have sustained a severe injury to the eye. Retinal changes due to diabetes may be involved.

Treatment of detached retina requires immediate hospitalization and surgery. Bed rest with the head flat often helps before the operation. The surgeon repairs the hole or tear in a method much like spot welding. A new method of doing this is with a laser beam.

Success rate for reattachment of retinas is 85 per cent. Some cases require more than one operation. Vision may not be as good as prior to the detachment.

Detached retinas usually respond to treatment by surgery. If the symptoms appear—floating spots before the eyes—see an eye specialist promptly.

Hawks edge Pirates in 24-20 thriller

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock North Central Hawks edged the Pass Christian Pirates 24-20 in a thriller in the HNC Stadium Friday.

The Hawks had to come from behind twice to trim the Pirates in a football contest which kept the fans on the edge of their seats for the entire contest.

As the game ended, Hawk head coach Irvin Favre presented the game ball to Senior Lloyd Henry who topped the 1,000 yards rushing mark for the second year.

Henry picked up 186 yards against the Pirates pushing his total yardage at 1,102 for the 1980 season. In 1979, he accumulated 1,019 yards.

Favre had high praises for his team's exciting victory. "I am tremendously happy with our game tonight. Our seniors played a superior game. We came back twice to win, it was a great team effort."

Pirate head coach Bob Lumpkin commented, "We did not stop the Hawks. They gained more yardage in the first half than any team in an entire contest we played this season. The Hawks were better, offensively than we were tonight. It was a very good game, we just could not put it together."

The Pirates were the first to strike in the first quarter when the Hawks were forced to punt on fourth down and the ball sailed over the head of the punter. He was dropped on his own nine yard line by an alert Pirate defense and the visitors took over.

Oscar Bailey, the Pirates great offensive machine, picked up seven yards on his first carry followed by a two yard score. Bailey booted the PAT giving the Pirates a 7-0 lead with 5:44 left in the quarter.

The Hawks started a march down the field behind some fine running by Henry which included a 39 yard pickup. The Pirate defense stiffened on their six yard line and the Hawks opted for a 23 yard field goal by Keith Glass. The score was Pirates 7, Hawks 3 with 2:24 still left in the first quarter.

The Pirates stormed back on a Buck Bradley pass to Bailey covering 67 yards on the third play after the kick-off. Bailey added another point on the PAT.

Still in the first quarter, the Pirates led 14-3 with 39 seconds left.

Hawk quarterback Bobby Devaughn engineered a long drive with two key passes right on the money. One was a 24-yarder to Gary Stephenson and another good for 30 yards to Kent Deschamp before Henry scooted in from three yards out.

Devaughn hit Deschamp for a two point conversion, leaving the Pirates with only a 14-11 edge with 9:43 to go in the first half.

Defense tightened by both the Pirates and Hawks for the rest of the second half. The Pirates got a break when a Hawk's deep man dropped a fair catch which Pass recovered on the HNC 20.

The Hawks held and a field goal attempt by Bailey was wide with the score fixed at 14-11 in favor of the Pirates at the half.

The Hawk and Pirate fans were treated to excellent half time performances by their respective bands.

Special recognition was given to the senior band members of Hancock North Central by the hometown school administration.

Lisa Necaise was recognized for being selected to McDonald's All-American High School Band. Ms. Necaise will be one of the two representatives from Mississippi to participate in Macy's annual Thanksgiving parade up New York City's Fifth Avenue.

Band director Catchie Cholina will chaperone the outstanding band member. Ms. Cholina's husband Darrell will accompany the two on the journey, courtesy of the band boosters.

The Pirates kicked-off to open the second half. Henry behind some fine blocking and fancy running rambling in for a 47 yard score on the Hawks seventh play.

Glass added the PAT giving the Hawks their first lead of the night, 18-14 with 7:56 in the third stanza.

The fourth quarter opened with the Pirates taking possession on the HNC 44 after a punt.

Bradley scored after his sixth carry on a four yard run and was stopped short on an attempt for a two point conversion.

The score put the Pirates on top 20-18 with 9:31 left in the game.

Favre feels the Pirates played a good game. "Their quarterback Buck Bradley and backs Oscar Bailey and Perry Halton are some mighty fine players. They are a fine team."

Coach Lumpkin feels Henry was a good back saying, "Little Henry is a good runner. The Hawks were better than us offensively tonight, Henry was the difference."

Late in the fourth quarter the Hawks were driving only to be stopped on a pass interception by Greg Porter on the Pirate 20 which he returned to the 38.

The Pirates first play from scrimmage was broken up by a fast Hawk rush causing them to lose the ball with the recovery made by alert Hawk Shannon Lyons.

Devaughn heaved a long bomb to Rodney Necaise who leaped high to fall in the end zone with his arms tightly around the ball.

Devaughn went back to pass for a two point conversion and ran for some time before throwing a pass broken up by the Pirate defenders. The Hawks were on top 24-20 with 2:26 left in the game.

The Pirates were bottled up on their end of the field and unable to move the ball on four pass attempts.

An ankle injury to Bailey late in the game hurt the Pirates offense.

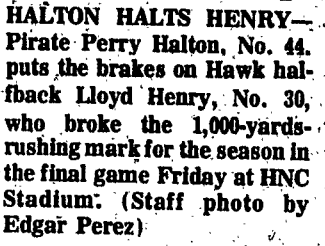

The Hawks led the Pirates in first downs, 12-6; yards passing, 140-70; and yards on the ground, 228-116.

St. Stanislaus loses to top rated Vancleave

By RANDY PONDER

Tailback Mark Warren scored two touchdowns on runs of 5 and 1 yards maintaining his season average while leading the Vancleave Bulldogs to a 15-7 come from behind victory over the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws in Bay St. Louis Friday night.

The loss was the Rock's first defeat at home this year, dropping their season record to 7-3-1.

The win allowed Vancleave to claim the Pascagoula River Conference crown and end regular season play with a perfect 10-0 mark.

The stands on both sides of the football field were filled to capacity with supporters of the two teams and could very well have been the largest crowd to attend a game in Hancock County this year.

Quarter number one belonged to the Rock-A-Chaws. After winning the toss of the coin and electing to receive to start the contest, the Bulldogs were unable to move and were forced to punt.

St. Stanislaus took control on their 47 and went 53 yards for the first score of the game.

The drive was aided by two penalties; one for encroachment and the other a face mask infraction against Vancleave.

With a first and ten at the 21, Mike Hourin eluded several tacklers on a super individual effort moving the ball to the 5. Then Sean Logan got the call and went around the right end for the touchdown.

Juan Betanzos' extra point conversion gave the Rocks a short lived 7-0 lead.

After an exchange of punts, St. Stanislaus allowed the Bulldogs to make the play that turned the game around.

Pat Kergsten dropped back to punt but the snap from center hit the ground and when Pat finally got a foot on the ball, the Vancleave players were able to block the kick.

Quarterback Mike Seymour directed the Bulldogs into the endzone on a drive that covered only 34 yards.

Mark Warren scored on a sensational 5 yard run, breaking several tacklers en route.

The PAT knotted the game at 7 with 11 minutes remaining in the first half.

Vancleave's second TD capped a 53 yard march late in the second quarter. Mark Warren accounted for most of the yardage including a one yard dash for the score.

Instead of kicking the PAT, holder Doc Reddit took the ball and raced around the right end for a two point conversion, giving the Bulldogs a 15-7 halftime lead.

Intermission was filled with excitement and fun as the seniors presented their annual halftime show.

The last half of the football game was a defensive struggle with both teams making the big play when they had to.

One Vancleave threat was killed after the Bulldogs had moved to the Rock-A-Chaw 25.

The swarming St. Stanislaus pass rush twice sacked the quarterback bringing on a punting situation.

The snap from center was short and when the kicker reached for the ball, his knee touched the ground, giving the Rocks good field position at the 48.

Vancleave stiffened and Betanzos missed on a 57 yard field goal attempt at the start of the fourth quarter.

Vancleave took over at the twenty but a fumble recovery by Mark Lichtenstein gave the ball back to St. Stanislaus at the Bulldog 26.

Unable to move, the Rocks again tried a field goal but this time another bad snap from center gave Vancleave the ball near midfield.

The Rock-A-Chaws dug in and forced a punt and with time running out started their final drive from the 19.

Having moved to the Vancleave 24, the Rocks faced fourth and ten with only fifty seconds on the clock.

Doc Reddit turned out the lights when he intercepted a desperation pass on the Bulldog 15.

As the game ended all the Vancleave players and many of their fans crowded onto the football field to celebrate the win and the perfect season. The partying went on and on even though everyone else had left the stadium.

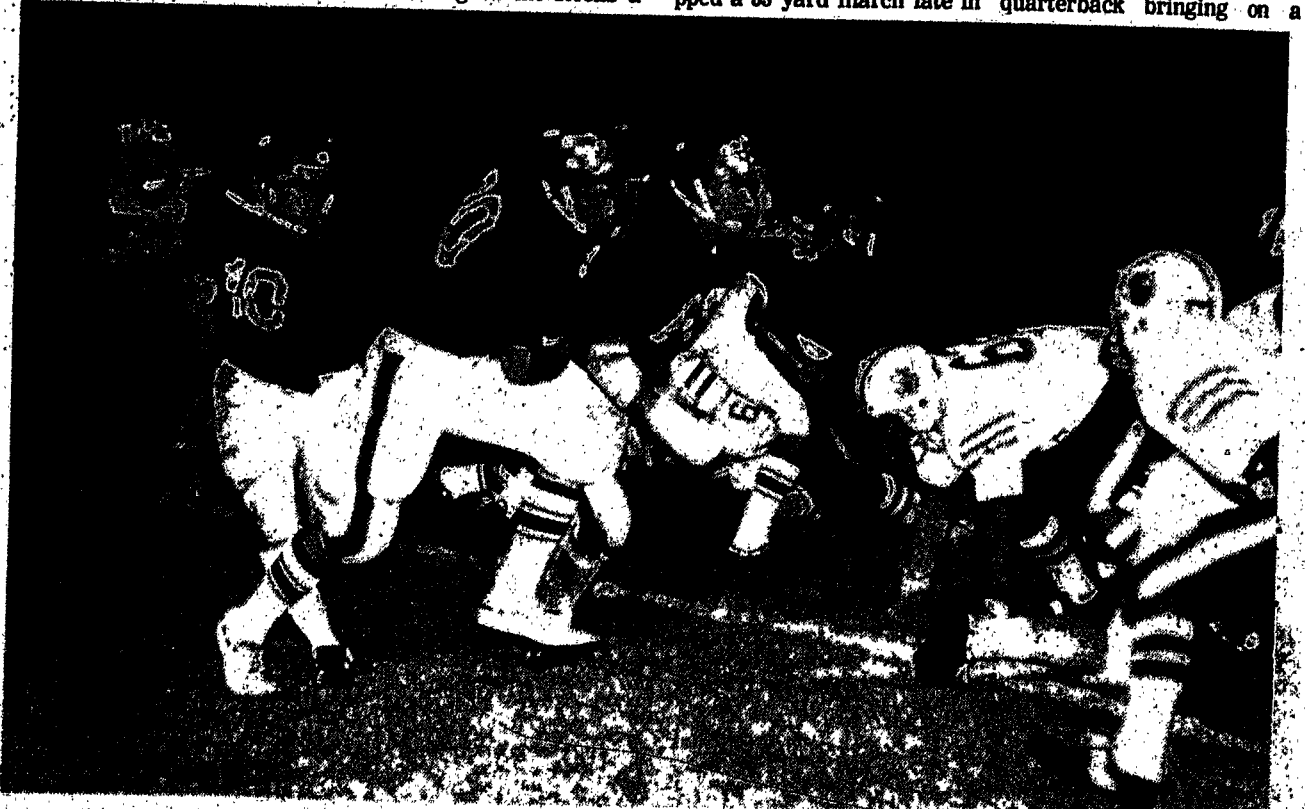

"I was real, real proud of our kids. We were very competitive in this and every game we've played this year," St. Stanislaus coach Barry Jones stated following the contest. "Vancleave has a good football team. They came up with some big third down plays that kept us from getting the ball."

Quarterback Joe Gex was taken from the field during the third stanza suffering from a hairline fracture of the ankle. Mark Schultz took over the signal calling following the injury to Gex.

St. Stanislaus' three losses this year were to Slidell, Iberville and Vancleave, all very good teams. The Rock-A-Chaws were the Hancock County champions for the second year in a row by virtue of their wins over Hancock North Central and Bay High School.

"I feel we are the second best team in the conference and with a couple of breaks could be the best," Jones commented.

QUICK HANDOFF—Rock-A-Chaw quarterback Joe Gex gives the football to fullback Mike Hourin as Joe Church and Brad DeGeorge make some running room for the speedy senior back. Hourin finished the night with 34 yards rushing, setting up the Rock's only touchdown with a 14 yard burst in the first quarter. Vancleave won the game 15-7, finishing the season with a 10-0 mark and take top honors in the Pascagoula River Conference. St. Stanislaus ended the year with a 7-3-1 record. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

HALFTIME FEATURE—Each year at the last home game of the year, the senior band members stage their own halftime show which included a visit from Kermit the Frog this year. Drum major Virginia MacMillan assists Kermit from his hiding place. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

Breakfast essential to make good grades

Kids who eat breakfast average 21 percent higher reading scores than kids who don't. They have a 66 percent longer attention span, are healthier and more alert in the classroom.

Grownups, too, should start the day with nutritious food, says Ann O. Rushing, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist.

By the breakfast time, many people have gone as long as 10 hours or more without food. If one misses breakfast, the day is started on a decided disadvantage.

How does one develop the good breakfast habit? Start by loading the breakfast table with ready-to-eat nutritious foods the family is bound to like: a pitcher of fruit juice, a jar of peanut butter and some honey along with whole grain bread or muffins. Add a glass of milk and it's a balanced meal.

Peanut butter is 26 percent protein and is high in niacin and other B vitamins. Honey and peanut butter always make breakfast more inviting, she adds.

Hawks Win.....Continued from 8A

Devaughn had his best game of the season in completing seven of 12 passes with one being intercepted. Favre commented, "Devaughn had his best game, passing, he was right on the mark and we had some fine catches."

ELUSIVE BUTTERFLY—Like an elusive butterfly, the football floats just out of the reach of Pass Christian Pirate full-back Danny Lizana as HNC Hawk Rodney Necaise, No. 80, guards the receiver. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

The Hawks, who improved during the later stages of the season, finished strong with a 6-4 win-loss record. Pass Christian's record is 3-5-1, having lost most of those five games by only a few points.

Favre is still angry about the Hawks being on probation because of a baseball player hitting an official last Spring. All sporting activities have been placed on probation until January by the High School Activities Association.

Favre allowed, "It is a shame we cannot represent our school in our own back yard because of the baseball incident. We have played some fine football in the last games of the season and our boys would be deserving representatives in the Wendell Ladner Memorial Bowl."

Baseball, which starts in the Spring, will not be effected by the probation.

It will be a rebuilding effort for Hancock's gridders next season as they lose eight of the eleven starters.

Coach Lumpkin will have 20 juniors and 11 sophomores back, losing three offensive starters and four on defense.

In talking again about Henry, Favre stated, "You know he came up through our football program at Hancock and I am proud to have been his coach. I hope he receives a good football scholarship."

"Next to our 10-0 season this has been our next most exciting year at Hancock," Favre added.

"We have had good fan support, especially from the '50 yard line group' who backed us win or lose," Favre added.

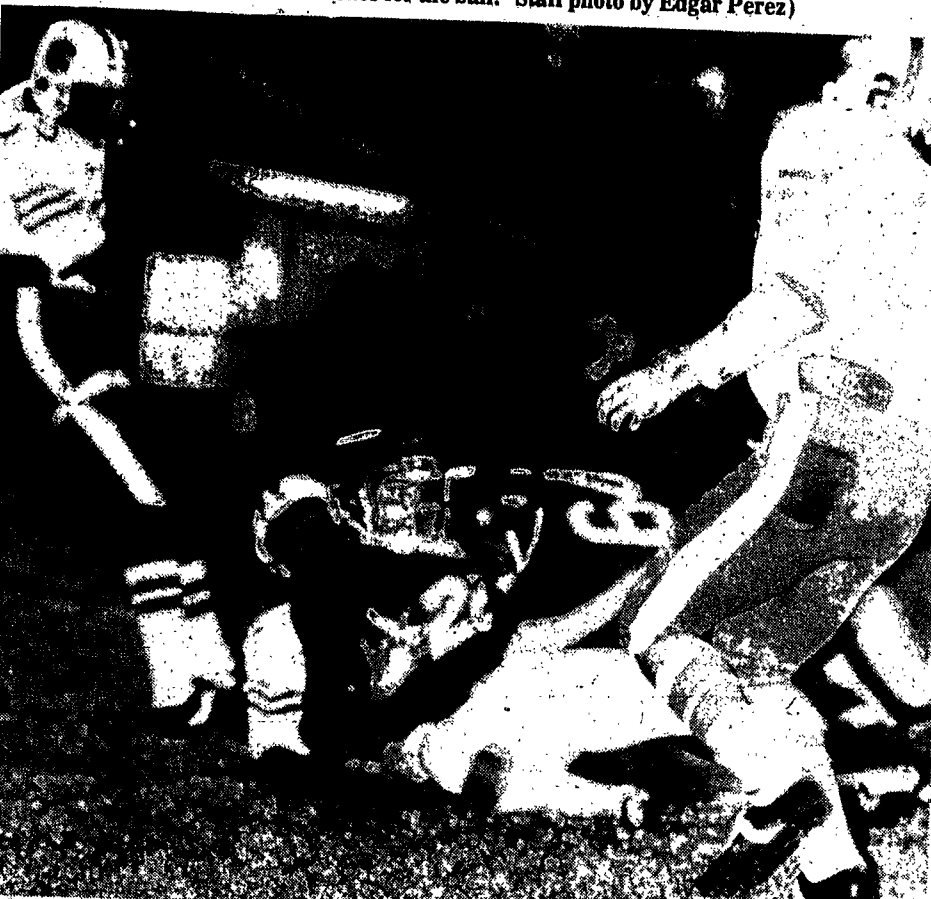

Coach Favre continued, "This has been a good season for the Hawks. The administration, students, parents, band, cheerleaders, managers and our football players all supported us. Oh yes! Don't forget coaches Rocky Gaudin and Joe Shaw, they did a fine job."

Favre said the Hawks will not play anymore football games this year but he hoped everyone will come out and see the Wendell Ladner Memorial bowl next weekend.

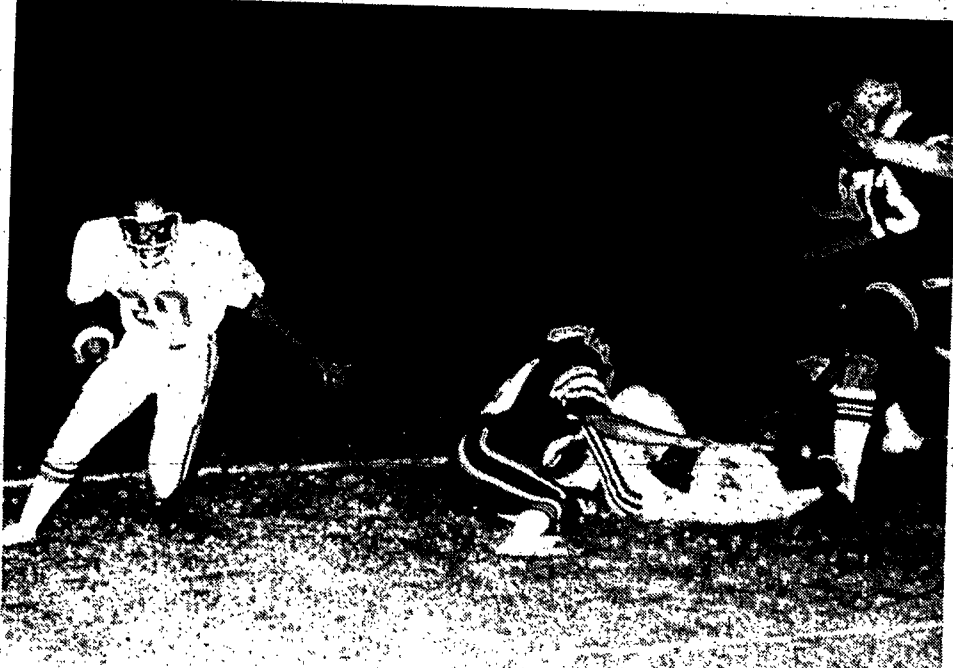

The contest Saturday night pits the Eagles of St. John against Beat Four from Waynesborough next Saturday night sponsored by the Jaycees.

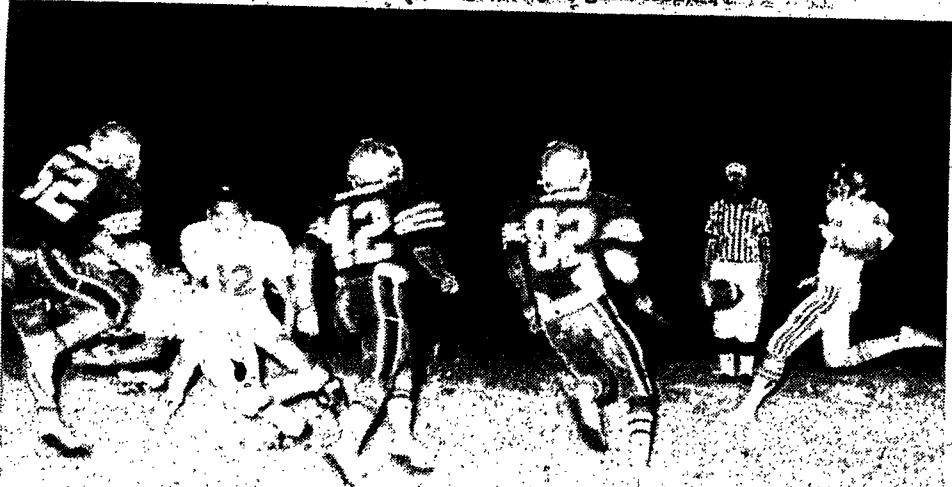

KEITH'S KICK GOOD—A first quarter field goal attempt by Hancock North Central Hawk Keith Glass is good, contributing three points to the Hawks' total scoring effort of 24 to 20 for Pass Christian Pirates Friday at HNC Stadium. FIRST SCORE OF THE GAME—Sean Logan gives St. Stanislaus the early lead with this two yard touchdown run. Helping to make room for Logan in the endzone is number 64 Brad DeGeorge. Although Vancleave won the High school football game 15-7, Logan picked up 106 yards rushing. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

PIRATE CASUALTY—Star Pirate tailback Oscar Bailey, No. 20, sustained an ankle injury late in the fourth quarter Friday against Hancock North Central, thus missing crucial action in which the Hawks went ahead to a 24-20 victory. Hawk Michael Shubert, No. 73, is intent on interfering with Bailey's progress here. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

UP AGAINST THE WALL—Pirate Flanker Charles De Metz braces against a Hancock North Central defensive onslaught as Pirate Darrell Hayden, No. 48, boots the Pirates out of a hole on their own five-yard-line during Friday night action at Hawk Stadium. Moving in on Hayden are Hawks Keith Glass, No. 52; Glen Meranto, No. 42; and Cedric Goff, No. 82. The Hawks edged the Pirates 24-20 in the season finale for both teams. Hawks had not scored on Pirates in previous encounters. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

VA News

Q — If a veteran dies before a home loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration is repaid, will VA pay off the balance?

A — No. The surviving spouse or other co-borrower must continue making payments. However, mortgage life insurance, available from private companies, can provide protection against a survivor inheriting large monthly payments.

Q — I was in the Army from Feb. 3, 1966, through Feb. 2, 1968, and was honorably discharged. Recently I have become totally disabled due to an accident which was non-service connected. Am I eligible for any disability payments from the VA?

A — No. In order to be eligible for VA pension, a veteran must have had honorable service for 90 days or more, and that service must include at least one day during a wartime period.

Q — I am eligible for Vietnam Era GI Bill education assistance but I have not completed high school. Can I use the GI Bill to complete high school?

A — Yes. You can complete high school using the GI Bill. This will not affect your entitlement to benefits for training at the college level.

Her first Christmas tree a treat for 68-year-old

BY BRENT MACEY
Christmas came early this year for Ruby Wallace and her family in Hancock County's BaySide Park Subdivision.

The move toward an early arrival of Santa started in July when 68-year-old Alberta Brown came to live with the family.

Bertie, as the family calls her, is mentally retarded and had lived all her life in Talladega, Alabama.

For 30 years she lived with Mrs. Wallace's sister Vera, and when Vera died she came to live with the Wallaces.

The Wallaces were unaware at the time that Bertie had never had a Christmas tree.

According to Mrs. Wallace, her sister Vera was always very, very poor. "She was always helping other people to the extent that she never had anything but the bare necessities. When she died last fourth of July, the church was filled by people in the community who had known her."

Bertie says that Vera gave her presents for Christmas, gifts like candy or apples or oranges, but they never had a tree.

For this reason, along with the fact that her 4-year-old son was anxious for Christmas, Mrs. Wallace decided to put the tree up early.

"He sure is purty," Bertie says about the tree in a slow Alabama-drawl. "I jist love the lights."

"I love you, Tree," she says, standing alongside.

According to Mrs. Wallace, Bertie watches and talks to the tree all the time.

"She even gets up at night to come out and watch and talk to the tree," Ms. Wallace said. "This has been one of the most refreshing things to happen in my house for a long time. I'd almost lost the meaning of Christmas and she brought it back," Mrs. Wallace added.

Bertie is almost a saint, according to Mrs. Wallace. "She never gets mad but is always good natured and easy going."

Bertie's life style is very simple. She stays in the house or goes out for walks along the road. She is in excellent health.

"I don't think age is hurting me a bit," Bertie says. "I can walk anywhere and get up an run if I got a notion."

Every Sunday she attends the Lakeshore Baptist Church. Mrs. Wallace says Bertie does not like to miss church. "She looks forward to that every Sunday."

A guitar that Vera gave her before she died is a real treasure for Bertie. It nearly broke her heart when a string broke. "I guess it will knock me out from pickin'," Bertie said. She wanted to play a song. "One that God taught me," but without the string she could not play.

She hopes to get one for Christmas along with a radio she can tote up and down the road with her when she takes her walks.

Mrs. Wallace is not sure what will happen after Christmas.

"I don't want them to take it down," Mrs. Wallace said. "I want to keep it up all year. It's so purty."

DETERMINED RUNNER-Vancleave's tailback Mark Warren appears to be headed for the ground as the Rock-A-Chaw defense closes in. However the fleet footed 165 pound senior managed to escape this ambush and slip into the endzone for the Bulldog's first TD. Warren also accounted for Vancleave's other touchdown on a one yard run to maintain his season average of two per game. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

Bay couple injured in two-car accident

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Bay St. Louis Police have reported a local couple sustained injuries in a two-car accident at the corner of US-90 and Second Street at 5:15 p.m. Nov. 8.

Police Chief Douglas Williams reported Thursday, "Ethel and Lucien Raymond of Huckleberry Road in Bay St. Louis were traveling in their automobile east on US-90 near Second Street."

"Ethel Raymond was driving," he added.

"Wendell Boyles, 18, of Gulfport was traveling in his automobile north on Second Street and failed to yield the right-of-way," the police chief stated.

Williams reported the left front fender of the Boyles vehicle struck the right side of the Raymond car causing it to go out of control.

The police chief said the Raymond automobile crossed the highway median and ditch then stopped near a fence on the service lane north of the highway.

The police chief said the Raymonds, Boyles, and Kim Gottschalk, 15, of Pass Christian, a passenger in Boyles' vehicle, were all transported by Mobile Medic to Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis for treatment of cuts and abrasions.

"Boyles was transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital at his father's request, but he has been released from that hospital," Williams reported.

Williams said Boyles is charged with no driver's license, running a stop sign and causing damage.

In addition to Mobile Medic, Bay Patrolmen Gordon Campbell, Russell Watts and Richard Trudell responded to the accident.

"Both cars were extensively damaged," Williams added.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Edward McLain Sr. of Bay St. Louis. The groom is the son of Mrs. Esther M. Bragg and the late Harold E. Bragg Sr. of Bay St. Louis.

Rev. Willis J. Britt performed the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Arrangements of red and white silk carnations decorated the church. A centerpiece of white gladiolas, red carnations, baby's breath and fern adorned the altar.

Nuptial music was provided by organist Carolyn Crull of Bay St. Louis and soloist

Sharon Wilcox of Clermont Harbor.

Escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Charles Van Trier of Bay St. Louis, the bride wore a formal gown of sheer organza over taffeta fashioned with fitted empire bodice enhanced with chantilly lace, V-neckline and bishop sleeves trimmed in matching lace. Her deeply flounced skirt flowed into a chapel length train and her elbow length veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a lace bandeau.

She carried a bouquet of red silk sweetheart roses, white silk forget-me-nots interspersed with seed pearls and silk butterflies.

bride, was matron of honor. Naomi Bragg of Bay St. Louis, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

Attendants were identically attired in formal empire gowns of scarlet red featuring bishop sleeves edged in white lace. They carried long stemmed white silk roses with white lace and red satin ribbon streamers, and wore headpieces of white roses trimmed with red satin ribbon.

PCGC speaker recommends November rose planting

"Now is the time to plant roses," said Mrs. John J. Drevar, speaking before the Pass Christian Garden Club at the Pass Christian Isles Golf Club on November 6.

Mrs. Drevar told Pass club members they could plant roses any time during the planting season - February, March, April - which are favorite months to plant roses in this area. However, Mrs. Drevar likes October and November best because roses establish their roots before cold weather sets in, thus becoming one of the most beautiful flowers in the new year.

"For optimum results, only buy number one grade roses," said Mrs. Drevar. Also, "the new strains of roses such as Friendship, Honor, and Cherish are easier to take care of than the older strains," she said.

In her talk, Mrs. Drevar explained eight different ways to grow roses - bare root, rooting, container grown roses, layering, seeds, hybridizing (cross pollination), leaf rooting, and budding.

She suggested that an all purpose fertilizer or rose fertilizer should be used three times a year - in the spring, after the first bloom, and in early in the new year.

Mrs. Jack Harrison and Mrs. John Audley were hostesses at the meeting.

COMEDY-DRAMA "Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander," a comedy-drama by Preston Jones, will be presented at 8 p.m. Nov. 19-22 in The University of Mississippi Fulton Chapel as University Theatre's 1980-81 season. Set in a backwater town, the play offers a funny, revealing and poignant portrait of "Lu Ann" from her teenaged years as a high-spirited cheerleader to her middle years as a troubled widow who has kept her sense of humor. Tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for children and may be ordered through the Ole Miss Union Central Ticket Office, University, MS 38677.

Natural family planning courses set Nov. 22, 23

Natural Family Planning will be the subject of a weekend workshop taught by the Couple to Couple League at St. James School on Cowan Road, Gulfport Nov. 22 and 23. Classes begin at 10 a.m. both days and will end at 3 p.m. The method taught by the Couple to Couple League is a system of fertility awareness in which several symptoms of female fertility are used in cross-checking way for the greatest reliability and confidence.

According to the League, this system (called the sympto-thermal method) can achieve an effectiveness at the 99 percent level in actual practice.

The League notes that this system is definitely not the same as calendar rhythm, and that it is an improvement over both the temperature-only method and the ovulation method.

The League also states that its method assumes that every woman has irregular cycles.

As an organization, the League dates back to 1971 when John and Sheila Kippley teamed up with Ronald Prem MD, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Minnesota School of Medicine.

Dr. Prem serves as the head of the League's medical advisory board. He is firmly convinced of the value of having well-trained couples instruct other couples.

The workshop at St. James School will be taught by Douglas and Imelda Touchette, a CCL certified teaching couple.

The non-profit League is an interfaith organization dedicated to providing education about natural family planning.

The typical class has a majority of Catholics in attendance, but more and more non-Catholics have been attending in the last couple of years.

The League attributes some of this to disenchantment with the pill and some to an increased concern about the current state of sexual morality in western culture.

The League also emphasizes that the natural methods of contraceptive regulation can be practiced for all the fertile years without the risk of danger to health and that many couples have found marital enrichment through the practice of natural family planning.

BY DR. L.S.
WALKER

L.S. WALKER, D.D. HAVE OTHERS BEEN BLESSED because you have lived? Has your presence along the way brightened the road and lightened the load for a weary traveler? I have tried to ask myself this question as I pass along the way.

With this column this scribe has been coming to readers of some thirty newspapers for the past eight years as a weekly or occasional feature. While the response from readers has been most gratifying, I have never thought of myself as possessing any particular ability as a writer.

This weekly devotional commentary was born of a burning desire which lives in my heart to help; to encourage; and if possible, to inspire others in whatever way I may have opportunity. A good editor friend encouraged me and gave me the first opportunity to launch this public media ministry.

There is always that certain thrill each time we meditatively and prayerfully lift our pen to share our thoughts in that hope that what is written may give encouragement and inspiration to some weary pilgrim along life's rugged pathway.

Discouragement is always a most deadly enemy. It was during one of the most trying and disconcerting experiences of Elijah's life that "the angel of the Lord... touched him, and said, 'Arise and eat; BECAUSE THE JOURNEY IS TOO GREAT FOR THEE'." (I Kings 19:7).

These are not ordinary times! As Thomas Paine described the days of the American revolution, "These are times which try men's souls."

The apostle Paul referred to the last days of the age as "Perilous times." And it is not too much to say that they are just that - perilous!

Some of whom we pass day by day, are down in "the valley of despair." These need a lift to the sunlit mountain peaks of God's love and mercy. The world needs a lot of "lifters."

Someone out there on life's sea may have suffered "shipwreck" as a result of grace of God that person might be you or I. Who knows? These need to be pointed to Him who is "a very present help in trouble." (Ps. 46:1).

"From the end of the earth will I cry unto thee, said the psalmist, 'when my heart is overwhelmed lead me to the rock that is higher than I. For thou hast been a shelter for me, and a strong tower from the enemy.'" (Ps. 61:2-3).

In this lies the real thrill of sharing a message of hope and inspiration with someone who may be in need... and who knows who that person may be today or tomorrow! We all need lifting up, not pushing down!

Maybe your voice seems like a lone voice "crying in the wilderness," but if that voice, as frail as you may think it is, proves to be the timely word that helps a weary traveler find his way through the wilderness, that, within itself, is its own reward!

"Blessed by God, ... who comforteth us in all our tribulation, THAT WE MAY BE ABLE TO COMFORT THEM WHICH ARE IN ANY TROUBLE, BY THE COMFORT WHEREWITH WE OURSELVES ARE COMFORTED OF GOD" (II Cor. 1:3-4).

A man never stands so tall as when he bends down extending a hand to someone in need!

God gave us hands, not just to be extended with open palms to receive; but to reach out and share what we have with those all about us in less fortunate circumstances; and to lift up someone who has fallen by the way.

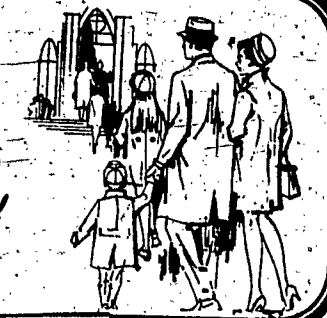

"As we have therefore opportunity," Paul exhorted the Galatians, "let us do good unto all men; especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal. 6:10).

There's an Answer!

Hostile and afraid

Q. What can I do to control my hostile thoughts? I hear about a child-beating and all of a sudden I'm afraid I'm going to do it. It works that way about everything hostile, and I'm so scared that sometimes I fear waking up each morning. The doctors all have different answers, and most of them say, "It's just nerves." Can nerves do all these terrible things to me? I have taken medication for years but I see no way that medicine can solve my problems. Please give me some hope because lately I haven't had much.

A. Your problem is probably what is called obsessive thoughts. By that we mean you have strong impulses to do what you really do not want to do and very likely will never do. When you read or hear about hostile acts, cancel out your obsessive thought by praying for those involved. Send out love thoughts to them. This will draw off your own hostile attitudes.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet, Thought Conditions, which is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564. Missed a lot

Q. I got married when I was 14 to a very special guy. He loves me so much he would give up his life for me. But we don't get along very well. We never have. I think I want a divorce. I'm very unhappy. I think I am in love with my husband's best friend. When I'm alone with my husband I am so miserable and bored. I'm 21 now and feel like I have missed a lot of my life by being married. I would just like a chance to make a life for me and my two daughters by myself. I don't want to hurt my husband, so what can I do?

A. You are feeling confused and bitter because you think you've missed a vital part of your life: those years of independence prior to marriage. This causes you to doubt your devotion to a loving husband. You think you're bored and want another

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

relationship, but really you long for the chance to develop into a mature person. Get out and broaden your horizons. Develop interests. Even get a part-time job. Go back to school. Then watch your self-esteem increase and your contentment with it. Much of your bitterness will vanish away and the future will be appealing and fulfilling.

Army Reserve/Guard Medical Units Operate—As a Team

The doctor and his surgical team are standing by, scrubbed, capped, gowned and gloved—ready! The surgical instruments lay on white cloths, sterile and ready. The patient is carried into the surgical theater and carefully placed on the operating table. The operation to save his life begins less than 30 minutes after the injury occurred some 12 miles away.

The scene described might be typical of many well equipped and run emergency rooms in hospitals across the Country. But when the eye strays past the doctor and sees the green canvas wall of the operating room and the ear picks up the chopping sound of helicopters, the scene begins to resemble a popular television show.

Fact is, the patient is not really injured at all, though the doctor and his team run through their normal, life-saving procedures.

The "operation" was part of a training exercise recently conducted by elements of the Army Reserve and the Nebraska National Guard which tested medical units of the Reserve Components. The two-day exercise tested the ability of members of the 82nd Army Reserve Field Hospital and the 24th Medical Company (Air Ambulance) of the National Guard, both located in Lincoln, Nebraska, to perform their wartime mission. The exercise included a battle scenario which presented a plausible reason for a large number of casualties suffering mock wounds.

Under the Total Army concept, units from the Guard and Reserve will, in a mobilization, become integrated in the Active Army. With increased emphasis on the role of the Reserve Components, combined exercises like this one, are becoming more common.
